

Defense and Intelligence Council December 2007

Defense and Intelligence Council Members

COUNCIL CHAIR
Marshall C. Sanders, CPP

COUNCIL VICE CHAIR
Richard F. Williams, CPP

MEMBERS
Cynthia P. Conlon, CPP
Connie D. Cronin
Shawn S. Daley
Richard L. Engel, CPP
Karl C. Glasbrenner, CPP
Ed Halibozek
Dennis P. Hanratty
J. Michael Harris, CPP
Kerrie L. Kavulic
Thomas L. Langer
Michael L. Laverdure
J. William Leonard
Mary Rose McCaffrey
Timothy J. McQuiggan
Ray Musser, CPP
Charles S. Phalen, Jr.
Donald R. Reid
Robert W. Rogalski
Jim Snodgrass, CPP
Glenn Sweigart, CPP
Diana F. Thornton
Gregory Torres
Deed Vest
John J. Young

WELCOME

Welcome to the first edition of the quarterly Defense and Intelligence Council (D&IC) newsletter. In this issue, our objective is to familiarize you with our council's mission and goals. The D&IC continues to be an active participant in the Intelligence Community while keeping abreast of the latest security information, directives, and changes.

In this Issue:

- D&IC Mission
- Goals & Objectives
- ASIS 2007 – Las Vegas, NV
- Changing Tide

MISSION

- Serve as a credible and progressive source of information and leadership on issues affecting defense and intelligence community security
- Establish, develop and promote excellence in the defense and intelligence community security profession
- Advance understanding of the ways the security profession may positively impact the missions of government and industry that supports it
- Develop and deliver high quality educational security programs directly related to the defense and intelligence community
- Serve as a resource regarding legislation and regulation affecting defense and intelligence community national security
- Promote and communicate high standards of professional ethics within the defense and intelligence community security profession
- Identify and promote 'best practices' and cooperate efforts within the defense and intelligence community security arena
- Collaborate with ASIS International and other organizations
- Serve as ASIS International's representative body to other national security organizations focused on the defense and intelligence community arena

GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

- Have committee members submit articles for publication in Security Management or similar professional publication
- Participate in the certification process
- Submit Calls for Presentation for the Annual Seminar
- Support the selection committee at ASIS Headquarters for the

Calls for Presentation

- Conduct activities specifically targeted to benefit our international defense and intelligence community security members

- Explore continued relationships with like-minded organizations
- Provide input on defense and intelligence community security to the Commission on Standards and Guidelines

ASIS 2007 – LAS VEGAS, NV

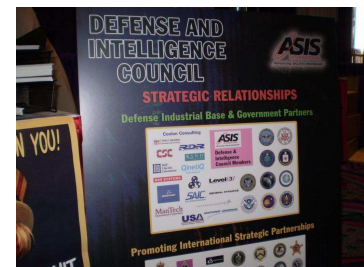

The 2007 Annual Seminar for the D&IC began with the semi annual group meeting on Sunday September 22, 2007. The meeting was augmented by the participation of several guest speakers from the Department of the Air Force. Members gathered to discuss various industry practices, while indulging in some of the delicacies Las Vegas had to offer. As the 2007 Annual Seminar began, the D&IC focused and became involved in as many areas as possible. We were the proud sponsors of 9 education sessions that consisted of some of the industry's most prominent speakers. Additionally, the D&IC operated their booth which contained several security awareness related items and giveaways. As our force and membership continues to grow, we are looking forward to an even better and more successful seminar in 2008.

2007 Defense & Intelligence Council Sponsored Sessions

Session Name	Speaker
SBU Standardization: Essential Tool for Government & Defenders	Amb Thomas E. McNamara, ODNI
The State of the National Industrial Security Program: An Update By the Government's Cognizant Security Authorities	J. William Leonard, NARA Charles S. Phalen, Jr., CIA Michael Kilpatrick, DOE Rosalind Baybut, DoD Ralph Way, NRC
How to Get Into the Game of Classified US Government Business	Richard F. Williams, CPP 3Ws J. Michael Harris, CPP, RDR, Inc.
Defense Security Service - "What's Happening?!"	Mary Griggs, DoD/DSS
9/11: A Personal Remembrance of Terrorism	Wesley Wong, Harbinger Technologies
Higher Than Top Secret – What Makes Information Classified?	J. Michael Harris, CPP, RDR, Inc.
Realizing the Return on Security Investment—Lessons Learned from an Operational Cost-Effective Program	JC Dodson, BAE Systems
Excellence In High-Impact Security Education Training	DeeDee Collins, NSTI Bob Kennedy, NSA Shawn Daley, MITLL
The Impact of US Export Controls on International Business	Deed L. Vest, USA Tom Langer, BAE Systems

Council members & speakers

D&IC Booth

Council members in Vegas

CHANGING TIDE

The D&IC will experience a leadership change in January 2008. For the past 2 years, Marshall C. Sanders, CPP has led the D&IC through a myriad of objectives and successes. As Chair, Marshall was responsible for increasing and augmenting the D&IC membership. He also helped formulate the D&IC's strategic goals and direction for the promotion of excellence in the security profession. Marshall will continue to be an active member of the D&IC. Edward P. Halibozek succeeds Marshall as the 2008 Chair. He is excited and enthusiastic about leading the D&IC and will continue to drive towards expansion. The D&IC seeks to expand its sessions at the 2008 seminar as well as generate awareness about its functions and capabilities. The D&IC looks forward to Ed's leadership and strategies. Bios for Marshall and Ed are included below.

Marshall C. Sanders, CPP

Marshall is Vice President, Corporate Security and Chief Security Officer for Level3 Communications a Fortune 500 multi-national broadband communications and information services company.

He is responsible for strategic direction, management and oversight of Level3's commercial and government security programs to include logical, physical and information security, data privacy, business continuity, emergency management and disaster recovery.

From 1985 to 1989 he served as the founding Director of Security for President Reagan's Strategic Defense Initiative Program. In 1989 he joined the private sector accepting a position with The Analytic Science Corporation in Reston, Virginia. In 1997 he was recruited by TRW to serve as Chief Security Officer for a large National Security software development program. In February 1999 he joined Level3 as Vice President Global Security.

He is a Graduate of the FBI National Academy, has a Masters Degree in Education from Wayne State University and is an ASIS International Certified Protection Professional.

Marshall will be succeeded by Edward P. Halibozek. Ed has been an active member of the D&IC.

Edward P. Halibozek

Edward P. Halibozek has been with Northrop Grumman Corporation for more than 22 years and is currently the Corporate Vice President of Security. Mr. Halibozek chairs the Northrop Grumman Security Council, which is the company's key deliberative body for security, contingency planning, investigations and fire services.

Mr. Halibozek has coauthored four books on security:

- "The Managers Handbook for Corporate Security"
- "Mergers and Acquisitions Security"
- "Security Metrics Management"
- "The Corporate Security Professional's Handbook on Terrorism"

Professional Associations (Membership):

- Chief Special Agents Association, Board of Directors
- American Society for Industrial Security (ASIS International)
- Aerospace Industries Association (AIA) Industrial Security Committee (ISC)
- Industrial Security Working Group (ISWG)

Mr. Halibozek holds a Master of Science degree in Criminal Justice from California State University and an MBA from Pepperdine University.

Next Issue: March 2008