American Hotel and Lodging Association (AHLA) is a 95-year-old dual membership association of state and city partner lodging associations throughout the United States with some 10,000 property members nationwide, representing more than 1.4 million guest rooms. It provides members with advocacy on Capitol Hill, public relations and image management, education, research and information, and other services to ensure a positive business climate for the U.S. lodging industry. Individual state associations provide representation at the state level and offer many additional cost-saving benefits. AHLA's vision is to be the voice of the U.S. lodging industry, its primary advocate, and indispensable resource. It's mission is to serve the lodging industry by providing representation at the national level in governmental affairs, education, research, communications, and value-added services.

Foreseeable Risk Analysis Center (FRAC) was established in 1991 in response to the public demand for a centralized information source on issues of traveler security. Since its establishment, FRAC has expanded its role to provide information of interest and importance to segments of the public wanting to know about residential, commercial, industrial and institutional security. The focus of FRAC is to analyze safety and security event data in an effort to identify how future incidents can be avoided. They are dedicated to providing information to anyone concerned about the foreseeable risks of loss or injury resulting from safety and security vulnerabilities.

National Association of Amusement Ride Safety Officials (NAARSO) is an association whose members are Amusement Ride Inspectors representing jurisdictional agencies, insurance companies, private consultants, safety professionals, and federal government agencies.

The National Program for Playground Safety (NPPS) has become the premier non-profit organization dealing with playground safety information in the United States. In 1995, the University of Northern Iowa established the National Program for Playground Safety (NPPS) with funding from the Centers for Disease Control and Injury Prevention (CDC) in Atlanta. Since its beginning, the NPPS has served as a recognized national clearinghouse for playground safety information; conducted ongoing research in the area of injury prevention; and, houses the largest compilation of playground-related publications and documents in the nation.

Public Employees for Environmental Responsibility (PEER) is a national non-profit alliance of local, state and federal scientists, law enforcement officers, land managers and other professionals dedicated to upholding environmental laws and values. PEER works nation-wide with government scientists, land managers, environmental law enforcement agents, field specialists and other resource professionals committed to responsible management of America's public resources. Resource employees in government agencies have unique responsibilities as stewards of the environment.

Hotels Magazine is the magazine of the worldwide hotel industry. It is the only publication that provides the total information package needed to succeed in today's global hotel marketplace: crucial news and finance stories; worldwide hotel project development; and trends in hotel design, operations, and foodservice that transcend national boundaries and can be applied throughout the world. The official publication of the International Hotel & Restaurant Association, HOTELS magazine provides more global news and features than any other lodging publication. Includes articles on hotel security issues, such as security staffing, security technology, and balancing comfort and security in hotels.

Hotel and Motel Management Magazine is designed for hotels, motels, resorts, and their chain and franchise organization headquarters and regional offices. Also served are architects, engineers, interior designers, interior design firms, contract furnishers, financial organizations, suppliers and other related organizations including hotel property and real estate developers. Targeted audiences include corporate, operations management, purchasing, food and beverage management, housekeeping and maintenance, sales and marketing management, design specifiers, security managers and directors, information systems, data processing, telecommunications managers and directors, and other lodging personnel. Magazine often contains articles concerning security issues and disaster related issues, such as how hurricanes and other disasters affect the hotel industry.
