

ASIS Councils

The ASIS Councils have been established to serve the membership through identification of information regarding security issues in their specific concentration. In addition, ASIS Councils provide support to, and enhancement of, ASIS educational programs and materials designed to meet the needs of professionals with specific security concerns and issues inherent to a specific industry.

The ASIS Councils provide a vital link between practitioners and the Society to ensure that only the most relevant and latest information on security practices is made available for members.

For More Information:

Contact: councils@asisonline.org

Defense & Intelligence Council
Membership Coordinator:
Mr. Karl C. Glasbrenner

ASIS
INTERNATIONAL
Advancing Security Worldwide®

Defense & Intelligence Council

Promoting security excellence within the defense and intelligence communities

What the Defense & Intelligence Council Does

- Establish, develop and promote excellence in the defense and intelligence community security profession
- Advance understanding of the ways in which the security profession may positively impact the missions of government and the industries that supports it.
- Develop and deliver high quality educational security programs directly related to the defense and intelligence community.
- Serve as a resource regarding legislation and regulation affecting national security.
- Promote and communicate high standards of professional ethics within the defense and intelligence security profession.
- Identify and promote "best practices" and cooperative efforts within the defense and intelligence community security arena.
- Collaborate with ASIS International and other organizations.
- Serve as ASIS International's representative body to other national security organizations.

Reasons for Joining

- Advance your professional development.
- Broaden your professional contacts in government and industry.
- Share your knowledge with others.
- Bring best practices back to your company or organization.
- Engage with policymakers, government executives and industry leaders.

Opportunities to Contribute

- Share your experience, knowledge, and lessons learned
- Sponsor a session at the annual seminar.
- Volunteer to speak at ASIS events.
- Write an article for Security Management magazine or other ASIS publications.
- Volunteer for a Council position.

Responsibilities of Council Membership

- Maintain active ASIS membership
- Attend bi-annual council meetings (January and September)
- Participate in monthly teleconferences
- Review and comment on meeting minutes
- Volunteer for council work assignments
- Obtain and maintain CPP credential

ASIS
INTERNATIONAL
Advancing Security Worldwide®

Council Chair

Mr. Ed Halibozek
Corporate Vice President of Security
Northrop Grumman Corporation

Vice Chair

Mr. J. William Leonard
The Leonard Consulting Group, LLC