

ASIS International middle East Security Conference 2009
Dubai, UAE – 6-8 December 2009

KEYNOTE SPEAKER (Opening Session - Monday 7 December)

His Excellency Lt General Dhahi Khalfan Tamim
Commander in Chief
Dubai Police

General Tamim's distinguished 39 year career in law enforcement started after he graduated from the Royal Police College in Amman, Jordan in 1970 and joined the Dubai Police, rapidly rising to his current rank of Commander in Chief in 1980. His inspirational and innovative leadership over the intervening years has ensured the international recognition of the Dubai Police force as the pre-eminent law enforcement agency in the Middle East and beyond.

General Tamim is a respected international speaker, published author and media contributor on issues of policing, security, social, cultural, and educational affairs. He is the recipient of numerous international awards for his contributions to policing, including several United Nations awards for his leadership work in Anti-narcotics and Combating Drugs, Combating HIV/AIDS, and Children's Rights. He is also the recipient of the 'Badge of Honor for National Security' from the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, the 'Regional Leadership Award' from the University of Alexandria in Egypt, and the Medal of Social Defence from H.H. the ruler of Sharjah. In 2009 he received the Republic of Djibouti's highest award, the 'Djibouti National Order of June 27th', for his contribution to the development of the Djibouti National Police, and in recognition of his major role in ensuring security in the U.A.E and the Arab World. He is also a previous recipient of the "Middle East Regional Executive CEO Personality Award", and Best GCC Managing Director in the Public Sector Award".

In addition to his role as Commander in Chief, Dubai Police, General Tamim is also:
Chairman of the Security & Justice Committee
Director of Security & Justice – Federal Security
Head of the Disaster & Crisis Management Team
Member of Dubai Government Executive Board
