The Golf Classic will take place at Las Vegas's Desert Pines Golf Club. Tee off for the shotgun start will be 8:00 a.m. following a player and range practice. An awards presentation will be held immediately after a buffet lunch in the clubhouse.

Desert Pines is a 3.5-star course, designed by Dye Designs International, and was nominated as the Best New Upscale Golf Course by Golf Digest. Described as "The Pinehurst" of Las Vegas, the course features thousands of mature pine trees lining the fairways. White sand bunkers protect large, undulating greens, with water coming into play on nine out of 18 holes. Desert Pines is located less than

MEMBER-GET-A-MEMBER

The Society has announced a Member-Get-a-Member initiative that will run through the end of the year and will offer incentives. "You know, when you experience something good, you are naturally inclined to tell others about it," says ASIS International President Steve Chupa, CPP. "You probably already recommend ASIS to your colleagues, but now we want to encourage you to reach out even more."

By participating in this program, both members and chapters can earn valuable awards, including free registration to the ASIS 53rd Annual Seminar and Exhibits in Las Vegas, a one-year subscription to the Protection of Assets Manual online, and vouchers for registration at ASIS professional development programs or toward the cost of ASIS-published books. A Chapter Grand Prize will also be given: one free full registration to the Seminar and Exhibits, including four nights lodging—an approximately $1,600 value.

To qualify to win, individuals or chapters must ask colleague applicants to include their name or chapter name on the membership application. For more information and support materials for the Member-Get-a-Member program, visit www.asisonline.org/ReachOut.

New Trio at ASIS Bookstore

The ASIS online bookstore has added three titles to its catalog of security-related publications. For more information on the books, or to purchase them, visit www.asisonline.org.

The first new book is Strategic Security Management, by Karim H. Vellani, CPP, published by Elsevier/Butterworth-Heinemann.

Written for security professionals and other professionals responsible for making security decisions, as well as for security management and criminal justice students, this text provides a fresh perspective on the risk assessment process. It explores in-depth security analysis and provides the reader with the framework needed to apply security concepts to specific scenarios. Advanced threat, vulnerability, and risk assessment techniques are presented as the basis for security strategies. These concepts are related back to establishing effective security programs, including program implementation, management, and evaluation. The book also covers metric-based security resource allocation of countermeasures, including security procedures, personnel, and electronic measures.

The second addition to the catalog is Avoiding Liability in Parking Lot Security, Zahna L. Ellis, editor; published by Trafford Publications, Inc. Featuring a complete summary and analysis of more than 100 key cases—as well as an update on the latest news and trends in parking lot security—this book provides the tools needed to help minimize liability by more efficiently and effectively designing and managing parking lot security programs. It covers cases in virtually every setting, including retail, office buildings and commercial properties, hotels and motels, colleges and universities, shopping centers and malls, apartment buildings, restaurants and bars, and recreation and entertainment centers. Each case description includes a concise summary of the facts and the court's holding, the complete legal citation, and an analysis of implications for security operations. This comprehensive resource was written for security professionals, property owners and managers, business operators, and risk managers in all industries, as well as their attorneys.

The final book is the ASIS-published ASIS Security Industry Buyers Guide, 2007 Edition (SIBG). The SIBG is the definitive source for buying and selling security products and services. This 20th edition comprises 1,313 companies in 1,752 regional offices with 2,812 key contacts. The products and services of these companies are broken out into 800 categories with a full index of 4,324 brands. The book's design and format make it easy to read and easy to use. All products and services are presented alphabetically by category, the brand index serves as a reverse directory to find manufacturers using specific brand names, and the product comparison charts allow direct comparison of features in several product categories. Whether you're a supplier or an end user, this comprehensive guide will help ensure that purchase decisions are based on solid research. (One free copy of the SIBG is a benefit of ASIS membership.) ♦

ASIS GUIDELINES UPDATE

ASIS INTERNATIONAL regularly provides the status of guideline projects so that members and others can access completed guidelines, review draft guidelines and provide comments, or learn the status of guidelines.

Listed below are the guideline projects of the ASIS Commission on Guidelines. If a guideline's current status is listed as "in committee," then no draft guideline has yet been created. If a draft guideline is undergoing a public review and comment period, the current status will indicate a link to a public comment form for suggested revisions, deletions, and additions. If a public review and comment period has ended, the status will indicate "in committee for comment evaluation." For additional information, visit www.asisonline.org/guidelines/guidelines.htm.

Business Continuity. A guideline that encompasses all elements of emergency preparedness, crisis management, and disaster recovery. Current Status: Final guideline published and available online.

Chief Security Officer. A guideline that addresses the key responsibilities and accountabilities, skills and competencies, and qualifications for an organization's senior security executive. Current Status: Final guideline published and available online.

Preemployment Background Screening. A guideline to aid employers in understanding and implementing the fundamental concepts, methodologies, and legal issues associated with the pre-employment background screening of job applicants. Current Status: Final guideline published and available online.

General Security Risk Assessment. A guideline outlining a seven-step process that creates a methodology by which security risks at a specific location can be identified and communicated, along with appropriate solutions. Current Status: Final guideline published and available online. First revision in committee. Final draft guideline expected on the Guidelines Web page by mid-2007.

Physical Security Measures. A guideline to assist in the selection of appropriate physical security measures including defining risk levels, addressing security incident procedures, and evaluating monitoring systems, access control, lighting, security personnel, and audits and inspections. Current Status: In committee. Final draft guidelines expected on the Guidelines Web page by third quarter 2007.

Private Security Officer Selection and Training. A guideline that sets forth minimum criteria for the selection and training of private security officers and that may also be used to provide regulating bodies with consistent minimum qualifications. Current Status: Final guideline published and available online.

Information Asset Protection. A guideline to offer general protection advice on collection, storage, dissemination, and destruction of an organization's information assets, including proprietary, classified, and marketing materials. Current Status: In committee for comment evaluation. Public review period of the final draft ended February 14, 2007. Final guideline expected in third quarter of 2007.

Threat Advisory System Response. A guideline to provide private business and industry with possible actions that could be implemented based upon the alert levels of the U.S. Department of Homeland Security. Current Status: Final guideline published and available online.

Workplace Violence Prevention and Response. A guideline to offer useful ways to maintain a safe and secure work environment through such means as identifying, evaluating, and controlling potential hazards and conducting employee information and training sessions. Current Status: Final guideline published and available online.

Awards

Annual Awards Honor Chapters and Leaders

At January's Volunteer Leadership Conference in Arlington, Virginia, the I. B. Hale and other ASIS International yearly awards of achievement and merit were presented by Chairman of the ASIS Board of Directors Jeff M. Spivey, CPP, PSP.

I. B. Hale. The legacy of I. B. Hale, past president and chairman of the ASIS Board of Directors, is memorialized each year by the award to a U.S. ASIS chapter that has made an outstanding contribution to the Society and the security profession.

Among the judging criteria are efforts by the chapter to improve the image or standing of the Society and the overall security profession, the number of educational programs sponsored by the chapter in a given year, the financial stability of the chapter, the quality of programming and attendance at chapter meetings, and the status of chapter membership.

The following chapters received the 2006 I. B. Hale Award:

Group 1 (nominees are chapters with 34 or fewer members)—No entries

Group 2 (nominees are chapters with 35 to 99 members)—Central Iowa; Honorable Mention—Tulsa

Group 3 (nominees are chapters with 100 to 199 members)—North Carolina Research Triangle; Honorable Mention—Central Illinois

Group 4 (nominees are chapters with 200 to 299 members)—Columbus; Honorable Mention—Cincinnati Tri-State

Group 5 (nominees are chapters with 300 to 499 members)—Phoenix; Honorable Mention—Kansas City, St. Louis

Group 6 (nominees are chapters with 500 or more members)—San Francisco Bay Area; Honorable Mention—Greater Atlanta

Newsletters. Chapter newsletters provide meaningful information to members of ASIS chapters.

Many display a high level of professionalism in design, editorial content, and graphics. The best productions are honored each year with the Chapter Newsletter of the Year Award. The following chapters won 2006 Chapter Newsletter of the Year Awards:

Group 1—No entries

Group 2—Central Iowa

Group 3—Central Illinois; Honorable Mention—Rochester, North Carolina Research Triangle

Group 4—Cincinnati Tri-State

Group 5—Kansas City; Honorable Mention—Denver Mile-Hi

Group 6—No winner; Honorable Mention—United Kingdom, Houston

Web sites. Web sites help ASIS Chapters inform members, promote events, archive reference and historic material, and more. The following chapters were given 2006 Chapter Website of the Year Awards:

Group 1—France; Honorable Mention—Turkey

Group 2—Central Iowa; Honorable Mention—Central West Virginia

Group 3—Central Illinois; Honorable Mention—New South Wales, Canadian Pacific

Group 4—Cleveland; Honorable

Mention—Greater Orlando

Group 5—St. Louis; Honorable Mention—Kansas City, Denver Mile-Hi

Group 6—Houston; Honorable Mention—San Francisco Bay Area, Boston

same qualities in its senior regional vice presidents (SRVPs) and regional vice presidents (RVPs).

The 2006 Council Chairman of the Year Award was given to John E. Turrey, CPP, of the ASIS Council on Economic Crime.

The 2006 ASIS SRVP of the Year Award was given to group 15's Peter French, CPP.

The 2006 RVP of the Year Award went to Joseph N. Masciocco of region 17.

Finally, an Award of Special Recognition was given to Regis W. Becker, CPP, former chair of the ASIS Commission on Guidelines.

The Society wishes to congratulate all of the winners and offer encouragement and support to the competitors for the 2007 awards. ♦

Las Vegas

ON SEPTEMBER 24-27, ASIS International returns after an eight-year hiatus to the shining city in the desert for its 53rd Annual Seminar and Exhibits. Security's largest yearly event, which will be held at the Las Vegas Convention Center, will include more than 150 educational sessions and 270,000 net square-feet of exhibitor booths representing the world's leading security technology and service providers. Approximately 25,000 security specialists are expected to attend.

In addition to the unsurpassed roster of sessions, a group of exceptional speakers has been lined up: Management guru Tom Peters will speak at Tuesday's special session and former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger will speak at Wednesday's. Michael J. Oxley, a 25-year veteran of the U.S. Congress (R-OH) will lead Thursday's Security Insights program; and Christopher Gardner, whose ascent from homelessness to business success was chronicled in the autobiography and film The Pursuit of Happyness, will speak at Thursday's closing luncheon.

Other special events include the Annual ASIS Foundation, Inc., Golf Tournament, a Foundation-sponsored pistol tournament, and the Annual ASIS Foundation Dinner featuring The Gene White Band and Swing Patrol (see page 6).

This year's headquarters hotel is the 3,000-room, refurbished Las Vegas Hilton Hotel and Casino, located adjacent to the convention center. Its spacious meeting rooms and ballrooms will serve as a perfect venue for the event. The Hilton also boasts multiple restaurants, an 85,000-square-foot casino, a spa, and Star Trek: The Experience. It is also the venue for regular performances by musical legend Barry Manilow. (For more information on the Las Vegas Hilton, visit www.lvhilton.com.)

Gaming and good fun

Las Vegas is, of course, the home of myriad casinos, but it is also an unrivaled epicenter of entertainment for both grown-ups and kids. Just a few of the attractions include the Fremont Street Experience, a 175,000-square-foot light and sound promenade that runs along four acres of casino-lined downtown street; multiple thrill rides on the top deck of The Stratosphere's landmark tower; Mandalay Bay's Shark Reef, which houses more than 1,200 species of aquatic life; the Tropicana's Titanic: The Artifact Exhibition; Circus Circus's largest permanent—what else?—circus; Madam Tussaud's Interactive Wax Museum at The Venetian; and the

A Desert Oasis

Secret Garden and Dolphin Habitat at the Mirage.

And don't forget the shows. Las Vegas boasts Circe Du Soleil's "O," "Mystère," "Zumanity," "Kà," and The Beatles-inspired "Love," as well as the ABBA-inspired "Mama Mia!" Other performances include the Folies Bergere, The Blue Man Group, magicians Penn and Teller, the mesmerizing "Le Rêve," and many more.

Get away

Just outside of the city, there's a magnificent desert waiting to be explored. Aside from the world wonder, the Hoover Dam, vacationing attendees can tour Death Valley, the lowest elevation in the North American continent—280 feet below sea level. In the valley, visitors will find an array of ghost towns and scenic points of interest.

In contrast, Mount Charleston, located 35 miles from Las Vegas, rises to a height of 11,918 feet. Among the attractions are hiking trails and horseback riding.

Red Rock Canyon, 15 miles west of the city, is a spectacular escarpment produced by a thrust fault. The resulting breathtaking rock formations delight thousands of visitors each year. A little further away is Valley of Fire State Park, which includes hidden canyons, rock formations, petroglyphs, and the ruins of an ancient Native American civilization.

While Lake Mead is the most well known of the Las Vegas valley's recreation areas, those with the urge to be active can arrange bicycling, horseback, and hiking tours through Red Rock Canyon, raft the Colorado River, as well as take advantage of the area's many fine golf courses.

Las Vegas's new slogan may be "What happens in Vegas, stays in Vegas," but attendees of the ASIS International 53rd Annual Seminar and Exhibits will take home a superlative security education, keynote speakers' food for thought, new and renewed connections to their industry peers, and memories of the sights, sounds, and tastes of a city like no other. ♦

Stirring Speakers in Las Vegas

The ASIS International 53rd Annual Seminar and Exhibits in Las Vegas will feature four distinguished and fascinating speakers who will educate, inspire, and motivate attendees at the special sessions on Tuesday and Wednesday, and the Security Insights program on Thursday.

Tom Peters

The famous, and infamous, guru of management Tom Peters will be the keynote speaker on Tuesday, September 25. Hailed both as “business’s best friend and worst nightmare” by BusinessWeek, he is the co-author of 1982’s In Search of Excellence—a book named by National Public Radio as one of the top three business books of the 20th century.

The primary message of In Search of Excellence was that business problems should be solved with as little business process overhead as possible, and that decision makers at multiple levels should be empowered. The book was the basis for a series of PBS specials featuring Peters, who is renowned as a vibrant onstage personality.

His later books were Thriving on Chaos (1987); Liberation Management (1992); The Tom Peters Seminar: Crazy Times Call for Crazy Organizations (1993); The Pursuit of WOW! (1994); The Circle of Innovation: You Can’t Shrink Your Way to Greatness (1997); The Brand You50, The Project50, and The Professional Service Firm50 (1999); and Re-imagine! Business Excellence in a Disruptive Age (2003).

Peters’ newest passions are for women as leaders; the supreme role of design in product and service differentiation; the creation of customer experiences that rival a Cirque du Soleil performance; capturing the enormous, underserved market represented by women and aging baby boomers; reimagining education for a Creative Age; and reorienting healthcare from “fix-it-after-the-fact” to wellness and illness prevention.

Peters is a native of Baltimore, but a long-time resident of California. He received his Bachelor’s degree and Master’s degree in civil engineering from Cornell University, as well as an MBA and Ph.D. from Stanford Business School. He is also a Vietnam War vet who later worked at the Pentagon and in the Nixon White House as a senior drug-abuse advisor. From 1974 to 1981, Peters worked as a management consultant at McKinsey & Company, becoming a partner and organization effectiveness practice leader. He then went solo and became an independent consultant.

Peters

Henry Kissinger

Nobel Peace Prize Winner Henry A. Kissinger will speak at the keynote session on Wednesday.

Kissinger, who won the Nobel Prize in 1973 for his work in stopping the Vietnam War, served as assistant to the president for national security affairs from 1969 to 1975, and secretary of state from 1973 to January 1977, during the administrations of Richard M. Nixon and Gerald R. Ford.

Born in 1923 in Bavaria, Kissinger fled Nazi persecution with his family in 1938 and settled in New York City. He became a naturalized U.S. citizen in 1943. During World War II, Kissinger was an interpreter for the 970th Counter Intelligence Corps. After returning home, he earned a B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. from Harvard University, then served as a member of the faculty, being appointed associate director of the Center for International Affairs in 1957 and was director of the Harvard Defense Studies Program between 1958 and 1971.

Kissinger brokered the Strategic Arms limitation Treaty and Antiballistic Missile Treaty with the Soviet Union and made secret trips to China seeking a détente between the two nations and the restoration of diplomatic ties after a severance of near 25 years. His involvement in trying to find a negotiated end to the Vietnam War with his Vietnamese counterpart Le Duc Tho, earned them both a Nobel Peace Prize in 1973.

In 1983, several years after his tenure as secretary of state ended, Kissinger was appointed by President Ronald Reagan to chair the National Bipartisan Commission on Central America until it ceased operation in January 1985, and from 1984-1990 he served as a member of the President’s Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board. From 1986-1988 he was a member of the Commission on Integrated Long-Term Strategy of the National Security Council and Defense Department. He is currently a member of the Defense Policy Board.

Dr. Kissinger is Chairman of Kissinger Associates, Inc., an international consulting firm. He is also a member of the International Council of J. P. Morgan Chase & Co.; chair of the International Advisory Board of American International Group, Inc.; and a counselor to and trustee of the Center for Strategic and International Studies.

He received the Presidential Medal of Freedom (the nation’s highest civilian award) in 1977, and the Medal of Liberty in 1986. He has authored multiple books and essays—the latest being Ending the Vietnam War: A History of America’s Involvement in and Extrication from the Vietnam War and Crisis: The Anatomy of Two Major Foreign Policy Crises.

Michael G. Oxley

Thursday's Security Insights program will feature Michael J. Oxley, a veteran of 25 years in the U.S. Congress (R-OH).

A native of Findlay, Ohio, he received his B.A. in 1966 from Miami University—Oxford, Ohio. In 1969, he earned a law degree from the Ohio State University College of Law. From 1969 to 1972, Oxley worked as an FBI special agent and became active in the Ohio Republican Party, serving as a delegate numerous times in the 1970s. He also served in the Ohio House of Representatives from 1972 to 1981 and was elected a U.S. representative in 1981 in a special election.

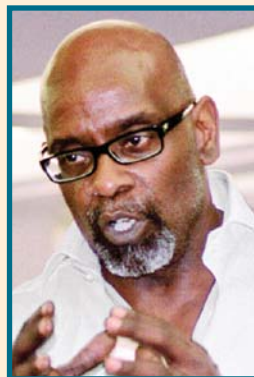

A part of the "Reagan Revolution," Oxley supported the president's program to renew the American economy and to restore American influence abroad. He backed efforts to curb excessive government spending, to lower taxes, and to reduce regulatory overkill that had contributed to the sluggish economy. He strongly opposed the nuclear freeze, supported the Strategic Defense Initiative and the MX missile, and backed other defense initiatives.

In 1995, after Republicans took control of the House of Representatives, Oxley was named chair of the Energy and Commerce Committee's Subcommittee on Commerce, Trade, and Hazardous Materials. After the Subcommittee gained jurisdiction over the capital markets, Oxley successfully pressed for stock prices to be quoted in dollars and cents, leaving the fraction system behind and saving investors billions of dollars. He was a conferee on the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act—legislation that increased competition and opened up financial services markets.

Additionally, Oxley is the author of the Child Online Protection Act (currently under court review) that requires Web sites that distribute legal adult material to verify that customers are over 18 years of age.

Oxley

Gardner

In 2001, Oxley was chosen by the House leadership to chair the new Financial Services Committee. Among the committee's legislative achievements are the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, the Terrorism Risk Insurance Act, the anti-money laundering provisions of the USA Patriot Act, and the Fact Act that mandated free annual consumer credit reports.

Christopher Gardner

Thursday's closing luncheon will feature keynote speaker Christopher Gardner, author of the autobiography The Pursuit of Happyness. Gardner is the owner and CEO of Christopher Gardner International Holdings with offices in New York, Chicago, and San Francisco. Gardner is also a passionate philanthropist committed to many charitable organizations.

The Pursuit of Happyness was the New York Times bestseller that inspired the eponymous hit film starring Will Smith. Both book and movie revealed a hardworking and tenacious man, who was left homeless by a series of unfortunate circumstances in the early 1980s while he was the sole guardian of his toddler son. Unwilling to give up Chris, Jr., or his dream of financial independence, Gardner started at the bottom. Without connections or a college degree, he earned a spot in the Dean Witter Reynolds training program—the sole trainee offered a job at Dean Witter Reynolds in 1981.

However, Gardner's meager stipend as a trainee meant he, like so many working poor in America, had a job but couldn't make ends meet. Gardner's coworkers never knew he spent his evenings trying to arrange daycare, find food, and a locate a safe place to sleep. After spending nights in a locked bathroom at a Bay Area Rapid Transit station in Oakland, California, he was able to stay at a church shelter.

Gardner passed his licensing exam in 1981 on the first try. He spent 1983-1987 at Bear, Stearns & Company, where he became a top earner, and then in 1987, he founded Gardner, Rich & Company, an institutional brokerage firm specializing in the execution of debt, equity, and derivative products transactions for some of the nation's largest institutions, public pension plans, and unions. The company has expanded into Christopher Gardner International Holdings and now has a business project underway in South Africa.

Gardner serves as a board member of the National Fatherhood Initiative, whose mission is to increase the proportion of children growing up with involved, responsible, and committed fathers. Gardner was the recipient of the group's Father of the Year Award in 2002. Additionally, he is on the board of the National Education Foundation and sponsors two annual awards: the National Education Association's National Educational Support Personnel Award and the American Federation of Teachers' Paraprofessionals and School-Related Personnel Award. He is also involved with the Chicago Teachers Union, sponsoring activities and outings for Chicago public school kids. Gardner has also been honored by the Los Angeles Commission on Assaults Against Women with the 25th Annual Humanitarian Award, and by the Continental Africa Chamber of Commerce with the 2006 Friends of Africa Award.

Judith Green Matheny, CPP

JUDITH GREEN MATHENY, CPP, is vice president for Lehman Brothers Inc. Corporate Security—central U.S. security manager. She joined the company in 2003 after a 15-year career in corporate security. Prior to that, Matheny served ten years as an FBI special agent, spending most of her law enforcement career as a member of the FBI/NYPD Joint Terrorism Task Force.

Matheny says that she was “enticed away” from the FBI by Bankers Trust, Inc. (now Deutsche Bank), where she investigated financial matters around the world before heading west in 1993 as the Western U.S. Civil and Criminal Fraud Coordinator for the Resolution Trust Corporation. Matheny has also served as Criminal Justice Department chair for Remington College and as developer of the security program for a large Colorado-based bank.

Q: What is your department’s philosophy on meshing security’s goals with corporate goals?

A: I’ve always personally believed that security belongs at, or close to, the executive level where issues affecting the safe and secure work environment are given voice. This association also helps the security department plan its emphasis and adjust its expectations according to corporate needs. Such a relationship exists for my department within our corporation, and we reap the benefits. But success requires dynamic executives who are appreciative of security’s role, as well as informed and progressive security professionals. It’s a rare mix.

Q: What was the biggest challenge you’ve faced during your security management career?

A: In my current position, I’m pleased to be part of a sophisticated security team where industry trends are embraced, but in the past I’ve been a change-agent who was tasked with establishing a security management presence—selling the need, choosing the appropriate systems and controls for the environment, and continually justifying security’s existence. Having had to roll up my sleeves and dig deeply into security’s many components, I’m now better able to identify with the broad spectrum of security challenges that I encounter on my job, and in my associations with ASIS’s membership.

Q: What are the security challenges you face in your workplace today?

such as biometrics or object tracking video technology should become major themes over the next five years as companies adopt their use.

Q: What are you the proudest of?

A: I think working on the Threat Assessment Response Guideline was my most rewarding experience with ASIS. It was my first opportunity to interface with some of the smartest volunteers available and see how the guideline process works. We also put together a very helpful and professional product.

Q: Why are you a volunteer leader?

A: About ten years ago, I found myself leading a one-person security operation. I needed the resources, networking, and fellowship that ASIS offered to develop the best program for my employer. Volunteering gives me the chance to return the favor—to develop resources that others can tap and to set the direction for future security professionals.

Q: Have you had any mentors during your career or ASIS involvement?

A: So many people have been influential in my ASIS experience, but two dynamic women come to mind: Former ASIS President Shirley Pierini, CPP, PCI, and Council Vice President Dr. Kathleen Kiernan. Each of them has inspired, directed, and motivated me at different times to give more toward the greater cause. ASIS Banking and Financial Services Council Member P. Kevin Smith, CPP, was an example to me of professional excellence in financial services. I'm also indebted to the Mile-Hi Chapter for the networking and camaraderie afforded me through the years.

Q: Who are you a mentor to?

A: I'm always surprised that security management remains a non-traditional career for women, when I see great opportunity, so I look for chances to mentor and inspire those talented women in my sphere toward establishing meaningful professional credentials. I'm also dedicated to developing my security staff toward greater performance and accomplishment. We both benefit from these efforts. ♦

A: I'd say implementing new technology, expanding security's influence, remaining in sync with our corporate executives, and assisting the corporation in its compliance mission. Security enjoys a recognizable place within our corporation but we're always challenged to provide a distinct and quantifiable service to the business and employees. I am continually developing this value-added package.

Q: What's the most important security trend right now?

A: Beyond the convergence trend that has been greatly discussed, I think we'll continue to see an increased focus on and awareness of compliance and security's importance and role in a corporate defense evidencing stewardship. Even in smaller companies, there will be greater pressure to comply and increased scrutiny.

Q: What about developments in new security technology?

A: Some technologies that were first considered "new-fangled" are through their beta test and ready for installation. These asset and personal identification technologies

Chupa's Night in the Spotlight

International Board of Directors in 2000. He became a member of the Executive Committee in 2004 and has served as secretary, treasurer, and president-elect.

➤ Born and raised in New York City, Chupa was first an architect and then a police officer before moving into private security at Johnson & Johnson in 1982. In 1984, Chupa was promoted to security manager and then became a security director in 1994. In this position, Chupa is responsible for security at the company's sites in the United States, Asia, Europe, the Middle East, and Africa.

Regions 1-4

Terrorism investigations were the topic when Louis Caprino, assistant special agent in charge of the FBI Joint Terrorism Task Force, spoke at a meeting of the San Fernando Valley Chapter.

The California Inland Empire Chapter made a contribution of $750 to Childhelp Village West, an organization that specializes in the prevention and of child abuse and the treatment of victims. Childhelp's director of community relations, Lynn Elder, spoke at a chapter meeting to thank members for their ongoing support.

Peggy McCormick of the Orange County Medical Reserve Corps spoke at a meeting of the Orange County Chapter about her organization.

The Greater Los Angeles Chapter honored Eddie Ramos and DeAndre Pugh, security officers for Universal Protection Service, as Security Professionals of the Year.

A meeting of the San Diego

Chapter featured a panel on the business case for security. Panelists were Gene James, CPP, director of asset protection for Jack in the Box, Inc.; Ken Wheatley, CPP, vice president of corporate security for Sony Electronics, Inc.; and Alan Smerican, security manager for Callaway Golf Company. Amy Park, senior training and development program manager for Jack in the Box, facilitated the discussion.

Aviation security was the topic at another meeting of the group. Glen Winn, president of Condor-Avsec, was the guest speaker.

Members of the Southwest Arizona Chapter learned about information technology security from Doug Stewart, president of Dplach Technologies. He discussed current concepts in IT security and what can be expected in the future.

Attorney Sreenu Raju of Forensics Consulting Solutions briefed members of the Phoenix Chapter on new federal rules for computer security and discussed the importance of records retention.

Collin Sloan, vice president of Sloan Fencing and Construction, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Idaho Chapter, where he discussed perimeter security. Additionally, the chapter staffed an ASIS information booth at the Idaho Business and Technology Expo.

The Northern Colorado Chapter met at Longmont Fire Station #5 to learn about arson investigations and canine support. Investigator Mike Manzo of the Longmont Fire Department was the speaker. His dog, Shadow, is trained to detect trace amounts of hydrocarbon-based compounds—the accelerants that indicate a fire may be arson.

Regions 5-12

Trooper Al Perkins of the Iowa State Patrol hosted a meeting at the Stockton, Iowa, patrol facility for the Eastern Iowa Chapter. Perkins discussed driving safety with the group.

A new concealed-carry law was explored at a meeting of the Omaha Chapter by the guest speaker, Douglas County Attorney Donald W. Kleine.

Assistant Special Agent in Charge Russell Collett of the U.S. Secret Service was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Illinois North Shore Chapter. He discussed financial and electronic crimes. Another meeting featured a talk by Dale Schoolfield, security and safety manager at Provena St. Joseph Hospital, on customer service and security.

Pamela A. Paziotopoulos, J.D., an expert in domestic and workplace violence, was the featured speaker at a meeting of the Chicago Chapter.

ASIS International Regional Vice President Adolfo Benages, CPP, visited the Illiana Chapter to preside over the swearing in of new officers.

D. A. Christian, manager of the Kansas City Office of Emergency

The Northern New Mexico Chapter presented its Daniel C. Valdez, Jr., Memorial Scholarship to Dominic R. Archuleta, who recently graduated from the University of New Mexico. Pictured here (from left) are Daniel C. Valdez, Sr.; Jessie Valdez; Rudy and Elaine Archuleta (Dominic's parents); Laurie Koontz, chapter secretary and acting foundation chair; Archuleta; Vivien Valdez; and Randy Kasik, CPP, chapter chair. Dominic Archuleta plans to work at Los Alamos National Laboratory as a security police officer and eventually to become a federal law enforcement agent or a criminal investigator.

Management, discussed the city's disaster preparedness and evacuation plan with members of the Kansas City Chapter. The plan is the result of lessons learned from Hurricane Katrina, recommendations from the U.S. Department of Homeland Security, and compliance with the National Incident Management System. Pat Quinn, CPP, senior security management consultant with Clarence M. Kelley & Associates, discussed how the city's plan ties in with state responsibilities, which is especially important in cities like this one, which is located in two states.

The St. Louis Chapter heard a talk by Bill Dougherty, CPP, director of internal audit services at Anheuser-Busch Companies. He talked about internal fraud investigations and why companies need to perform internal audits.

Cindy Howell, certified fraud examiner, spoke at a meeting of the Ark-La-Tex Chapter about identity theft.

Members of the Tulsa Chapter were briefed on the operations at the U.S. Attorney's Office at a recent luncheon meeting when Charles McLoughlin, U.S. Attorney's Office, Northern District of Oklahoma, was the guest speaker.

Allegheny County District Attorney Stephen Zappala spoke at a meeting of the Pittsburgh Chapter on public-private law enforcement initiatives.

Corporal Tony Ferraro of the Pennsylvania State Police crime lab talked to the Lake Erie Chapter about all aspects of the crime lab's work, with a concentration on ballistics, which is his specialty. He discussed comparing bullets to firearms and examining clothing where bullets have passed through.

The Memphis Chapter held a joint meeting with the Cargo Security Task Force. Michael Heidingsfield, director of the Memphis Shelby County Crime Commission, the guest speaker, talked about his deployment to Iraq, where he served as head of civilian police force training.

The Mid-Tennessee Chapter toured the Tennessee Titans Training Facility and learned about security from Steve Burke, who has protected the team for ten years. He discussed challenges such as irresponsible players, and aggressive fans.

Regions 13-18

Kevin Schick, chief marketing officer of Vincera, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Boston Chapter. He discussed enterprise document security technology.

Dennis Ferrell, senior director of security and safety for Teva Pharmaceuticals USA, spoke to the Lehigh Valley Chapter about inspections by the Drug Enforcement Administration.

Steven J. Healy, director of public safety at Princeton University, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Central New Jersey Chapter. He offered a presentation on the four pillars of public safety and security.

The Greater Fayetteville Area Chapter enjoyed a presentation on IP video cameras by Paul Thompson of Axis Communications at a recent meeting. He demonstrated the advantages of digital cameras over analog cameras, mentioning their interface, power, resolution, intelligence, and flexibility.

Aubrey L. McDonald, an identity theft specialist, spoke to the group about the restoration of personal credit ratings.

Conflict resolution and setting up the Iraqi Police Force were topics of the January meeting of the Palm Beaches Florida Chapter. Douglas Brand, who spent 14 months in Baghdad training Iraqi police, was the guest speaker.

Another meeting of the chapter focused on the current infiltration of radical Islam into the United States. Marshall Frank, author of Brutally Frank: Militant Islam in America and other books, offered his insight into the problem.

Regions 19-50

The Qatar Chapter learned about the International Ship and Port Facility Security Code when Gordon Dewar was the guest speaker.

The New Delhi India Chapter held a joint meeting with the Rotary Club of Delhi West. Kunwar Vikram Singh, recipient of the Best Investigator of the Year 2006 award from the World Association of Detectives, was the guest speaker. He discussed the many aspects of private investigation, including corporate fraud, litigation support, and risk management.

Gustavo M. Herman, CPP, chief of corporate security for the Coca-

Richard Dormer, Suffolk County Police Commissioner, addressed the Long Island Chapter at a recent meeting. He stressed continued vigilance in security and reiterated the need for continued public and private collaboration and communication in the fight against terrorism. Shown here: Chapter Chairman Mario J. Doyle, CPP (left), presents a certificate of appreciation to Commissioner Dormer, while Stephen E. Cleary, the chapter's program chair, watches.

Cola Company, and Hector Villegas, CPP, offered a presentation on self-protection techniques at a conference sponsored by the Northwest Mexico Chapter.

At another meeting of the group, Thomas Gottlieb, CPP, president and CEO of Von Gossler Consulting Group, offered a talk on the history of ASIS.

Teamwork has paid off for the Puerto Rico Chapter and Columbia College of Caguas, Puerto Rico.

When the fully accredited college wanted to initiate a certificate program in security management, college representatives invited the Puerto Rico Chapter's then-Chair Maurice Cohen to be a guest speaker during an open-house promotion. The response was significant and resulted in the college's building on the synergy by sponsoring several of the chapter's activities.

Cohen went on to advise the college on recruiting and texts for the program and eventually was asked to become the program director. One of the texts that is being used in the program is Certified Protection Professional® (CPP) Study Guide.

The Ottawa Chapter heard a talk on change management by Bob Gauvreau, manager of corporate security for the city of Ottawa.

Klas Nilsson, CPP, PCI, PSP, a security consultant from Sweden, visited meetings of the Denmark Chapter and the Finland Chapter. He discussed the benefits of professional certification and how to start a chapter study group. ♦

THE ASIS INTERNATIONAL Member Services Department receives all calls to the Society's main number, 703/519-6200. However, it is not necessary to use the main number when trying to reach a specific staff person. All staff have direct numbers, and callers are encouraged to use them to lessen the volume of calls handled by member service representatives. The following is a list of all ASIS departments and their staff telephone numbers and e-mail addresses.
