Security Executives and the Fight Against Corruption: Perspectives on Security (DVD)

The top 10 Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA) enforcement actions, from 2008 to through early 2014, have resulted in settlements of nearly $4 billion. Add to this the threat of prosecutions from both the FCPA and the UK Bribery Act (UKBA) and it's easy to see why some companies are beginning to shy away from some markets. Bribery and corruption are not solely legal issues; they can have a damaging effect on the reputation of the organization.

This session examines the vital role corporate security professionals play in mitigating these issues; why security is the first line in defense of an organization's reputation; and provides actionable information on how FCPA and UKBA are being enforced.

Recorded at the 60th Annual Seminar in Atlanta, Georgia, October 2, 2014.

Threat Modeling Lessons from Star Wars: Exploring Security Solutions (DVD)

It's probably not too often that you'll get this perspective. Star Wars was really all about information disclosure threats! Find out more as noted presenter and author Adam Shostack, references one of George Lucas' epic sagas to deliver lessons on threat modeling. Not only was the Death Star badly threat modeled, the politics between Darth Vader and Gran Moff Tarkin distracted incidence response after the plans were stolen. This session will provide you with proven foundations for effective threat modeling as you develop and deploy systems. Adam will help you understand what works for threat modeling and how various approaches conflict or align. Sponsored by (ISC)2.
