

Quote

"Executive Protection is a security specialty focused on safeguarding the life, health, time, reputation and peace of mind of corporate executives and others who face elevated risk."—R.L. Oatman, CPP, Chairman, Executive Protection Council

Mission Statement

The Executive Protection Council serves as a resource to security professionals and others on executive protection matters, with a focus on executive protection as a business enabler to keep leaders safe and productive. We study and teach means of protecting organizations' interests by safeguarding high-profile leaders in business and government, as well as persons at elevated risk due to wealth, public prominence, or other factors. Our goal is to conduct workshops, webinars, and other outreach to promulgate best practices.

Topics

The Executive Protection Council will be a credible and progressive source of information and leadership on issues affecting all aspects of executive protection. This includes risk assessment, protective surveillance, close protection, driving, training, and management. Current Board and Council members include mental health professionals, veterans of military and law enforcement, business owners, and leaders of corporate Executive Protection teams.

About ASIS International

ASIS International (ASIS) is the largest membership organization for security management professionals. It crosses industry sectors, embracing every discipline along the security spectrum from operational to cybersecurity. Founded in 1955, ASIS is dedicated to increasing the effectiveness of security professionals at all levels.

Through hundreds of chapters across the globe, ASIS develops and delivers board certifications and industry standards, hosts networking opportunities, publishes the award-winning Security Management magazine, and offers educational programs, including the Annual Seminar and Exhibits—the security industry's most influential event. Whether providing thought leadership through the CSO Roundtable for the industry's most senior executives or advocating before business, government, or the media, ASIS is focused on advancing the profession, and ensuring that the security community has access to intelligence, resources, and technology needed within the business enterprise. www.asisonline.org

Executive Protection Council

Focusing on Executive Protection as a business enabler, to keep corporate leaders safe and productive.

The Executive Protection Council aims to help security professionals understand how Executive Protection can work within your corporation's ecosystem.

Strong logistical coordination that saves executives time while traveling can illustrate the value of an Executive Protection Program.

Council Goals

- Deliver quality education, information, research and opportunities for networking.
- Develop and promote security standards.
- Promote professionalism, certification and ethical conduct.

Council Member Benefits

- Expand your professional network.
- Enhance value to your organization by increasing your knowledge of trending issues and practices in the Executive Protection industry.
- Learn how Executive Protection can be a business enabler.

Council Activities

- The Lone Gunman: Threat assessment and Strategies for Threat Management. Presented by Victor Welzant, Phsy.D. and members of the Executive Protection Council. Webinar expected to launch in Fall of 2016.
- Executive Protection Council Chairman, R.L. Oatman, a world-renowned Executive Protection expert and founder of R.L. Oatman & Associates, Inc., has published his latest book “Executive Protection: Smarter, Faster, Better.”

Does your Executive Protection team fit within the culture of your organization? Your team’s ability to work within your corporate culture is an indicator of success.

How do I join?

Prospective members should serve as a manager or above in the field of Executive Protection, work as a consultant specializing in the field, work as a vendor of products or services that directly affect the EP industry, or be a student as defined by ASIS standards for membership. Council Education

The Council will deliver the following education programs:

Executive Protection

Classroom Education

July 11-12, 2016
The Brown Palace
Denver, CO

November 14-15, 2016
Westin Peachtree Plaza
Atlanta, GA

Program Fee: $950 members; $1150 nonmembers
CPEs: Up to 14 CPE credits

This program covers the skills and procedures required to provide effective personal protection, in addition to meeting the needs of a full range of student interest, from entry-level to seasoned practitioners. Case studies reinforce techniques and teach best practices—with less emphasis on the gun.
