By Douglas Renwick, CPP, PSP

On 28 October more than 50 members from the ASIS International Hong Kong Chapter, OSAC, and ACSG attended a half-day conference at the Galaxy Hotel in Macau.

The members were treated to enlightening and informative sessions covering the challenges facing security management, malware and ransomware, IT and physical security convergence, and crisis management. The four speakers were Mark Hargreaves of Citibank, Mike Groves of H&A, Andy Ho of IBM, and Dale Johnston.

The event was followed by a sumptuous buffet dinner. The Hong Kong Chapter would like to thank all the attendees, and G4S for sponsorship of the event.

Douglas Renwick, CPP, PSP, is ASIS regional vice president Region 14A.

The ASIS China 2016 conference took place successfully in Shanghai on November 14 and 15.

Over 150 attendees registered, with many leading global and regional organizations represented. In addition to China, participants came from across the Asia-Pacific region including Singapore, Hong Kong, India, and Australia plus several from the U.S. and Europe. The conference was sponsored by Tyco and China City Guard.

ASIS President, David C. Davis CPP, set the scene with an overview of the state of security touching on the evolving risk landscape including terrorism and IoT security. He also recognized the winner of the ASIS Dan Grove APAC Regional Scholarship, Suraj Shankhpal, executive director of the office of global security for Goldman Sachs (India) Securities Private Limited.

Davis was followed by a lively panel debate on "Low Margins in the Manned Guarding Sector" and how this affects customers, guarding companies guards, and even the image of the security profession as a whole. ASIS provided a unique platform bringing together contrasting perspectives from local and regional guarding service providers and senior practitioners tasked with sourcing and selecting such services for their companies.

The ASIS CEO, Peter J. O'Neil, spoke about the changes the society is going through to deliver more value to members globally. Other topics on the agenda included: Jihadist strategy, cyberthreat management, creating a practical emergency action plan, duty of care, social media and convergence of physical and cybersecurity risks.

Panel debate on low margins in the guarding sector.

Prior to the conference, the ASIS Asia-Pacific Advisory Council met to exchange ideas on regional strategies with ASIS President David C. Davis, CPP and ASIS CEO Peter J. O'Neill. ASIS regional leaders had the opportunity to give direct input on what the opportunities and requirements for success will be for providing valuable educational programs and effective support in Asia-Pacific.

The submission deadline for the next issue is November 25.

India Experiences Catastrophic Cyberattack

India is dealing with one of the worst data breaches ever to hit the country with as many as 3.2 million debit card details stolen from multiple banks and financial platforms.

The Economic Times reported that malware was used to compromise the Hitachi Payment Services platform, used to power India's ATM, point-of-sale (PoS) systems and other financial transactions.

This infection then affected the State Bank of India (SBI), ICICI, Yes, Axis and HDFC, which are said to be the hardest hit. The Visa and Mastercard networks are also allegedly affected by the data breach -- which took roughly six weeks to detect.

Thailand Amends Education Requirement for Security Guards

Security guards march to Government House in January asking the government to delay implementation of the Security Guard Business Act.

Thai Prime Minister Prayut Chan-o-cha has softened the minimum education requirement of Matthayom 3 for security guards.

The education requirement was introduced early this year and was met with loud protests by many security companies and by security guards themselves, who said it was unfair, unrealistic and damaging to the companies' ability to provide services.

ASIS Europe 2017 Program Launched

A major program update for ASIS Europe 2017, taking place in Milan, Italy, March 29 to 31, 2017, has been published on the event website.

Highlights of the program and new event format include:

- Conference content focused on the increasing complexity of multinational, connected work environments with the blurring of lines between physical and cyber threats as well as new compliance challenges and ethical considerations.
- Masterclasses by recognized thought leaders will provide a deep dive into the most pressing risk areas today and prepare you for the challenges ahead.
- The addition of training modules allows the event to cater to a broader group of professionals on every step of the career ladder. These will provide actionable information and skills in a very cost-effective way.
- The new Show Pass will give access to the show floor - a hub for business innovation and professional development with the launch of the ASIS Europe Career Center alongside the exhibits and Technology & Solutions track. The Show Pass is free if you register online by 28 March.
- Flexible participation options make it easier to pick the parts of the program that fit your individual needs and help you manage the cost of your attendance.
